

- FPGAs provide large speed-up and power savings – at a price!
  - Days or weeks to get an initial version working
  - Multiple optimisation and verification cycles to get high performance
- Too risky and too specialised for most users
  - Months of retraining for an uncertain speed-up